

American Battle Monuments Commission – World War One Sites

Routes of Interest – From Brookwood American Cemetery, Woking, Surrey, to the Museum of Military Medicine.

Note: The museum recalls British Army medicine and healthcare, human and animal, from the 17th Century War to the current day. Current exhibitions include material on care of men and horses in the service of the British Army during WW1.

Address: The Museum of Military Medicine
 Keogh Barracks
 Ash Vale
 Aldershot, GU12 5RQ
 Tel. 01252 868612

Hours: 9:30am to 3:30pm, Monday to Friday

Note: This Site Requires a Photo ID for Access.

1. (By Car) From in front of the guest reception house of the ABMC site turn left and then immediately right.
2. At the A324 turn right
3. At the traffic light turn left toward Camberley on B3012.
4. The road will curve about a bit and pass roads coming in from the right.
5. You will pass a place where there are gravel parking trailheads on either side of the road.
6. Just after pass Keogh Close on the left.
7. Turn left into the military area where the road turns sharply right.
8. Ask Directions when you present your ID.